Occasional News from the Flora of Virginia Project

Help us help them

Every day, thousands of Virginians use the Flora of Virginia App to get work done, verify research, journal, identify a new plant, and so much more. These folks rely on the Flora App for the most current, accurate and in-depth data on Virginia's flora, available on their phones and without the need for internet connection. It is critically important to their work that we Keep the Science Current.

Our work to migrate our data to a custom database on the Flora of the Southeastern US (FSUS) Floraquest platform is well underway, thanks to grants from Virginia Environmental Endowment (VEE) and the Chesapeake Bay Trust (CBT) Capacity Building Award Program. The work will be completed early next year, improving:

- Security: The database will live behind a firewall controlled by access permissions, two-factor identification and workflows, protecting the data from viruses, software obsolescence and human error.

- Accuracy: Edits are made through a custom user interface and require review by a Flora author for approval.

- Currency: Data is edited, imported and added in real-time, then updated to the App on a regular schedule.
